Staff focus :

Back in 2007, I started working in Civil Hospital Karachi where I heard that there was a job vacant for ward boy at Burns Centre. I applied for that job and successfully got it. When I started working in Burns Centre, I realized it was a really challenging job for me because I am a sensitive person. What kept me to continue working here are the aims and objectives of the Burns Centre, “Dedication to the free treatment and care of the poor and the needy burns victims/patients”. While performing my duty I have earned the prayers and blessings from the victims and their families. Sometimes it is really hard to come over to the Burns Centre because I live in Surjani Town. It takes 1 hour 30 minutes to reach Burns Centre. But my wife is always besides me and encourages me by saying, “Whoever saves one life saves the entire world”. The staff of Burns Centre is very cooperative. They are always ready to serve the burns victims without any discrimination. In order to save your life from burns I request you all to handle products carefully and follow safety instructions properly.
